

Makin mill talks at critical point

These are crucial times for Drayton Valley's proposed $115 million pulp mill.

The developers, Makin Pulp and Paper Ltd. of Calgary, will be busy these next two weeks in tense negotiations with the province.

According to former Drayton Valley mayor Nevis LaBranche, who is now on Makin's payroll, "The developers are walking a tight rope."

"Makin have their own commitments and would like to ink a deal with the province by the end of January," LaBranche added.

The Town of Drayton Valley, who met with MP Joe Clark's special assistant David Jones last Thursday, discussed the project with M.L.A. Shirley Cripps Monday, and plan to make their own presentation to the government.

LaBranche is extremely happy with the co-operation of Drayton Valley town council. "They have been most co-operative," she stated.

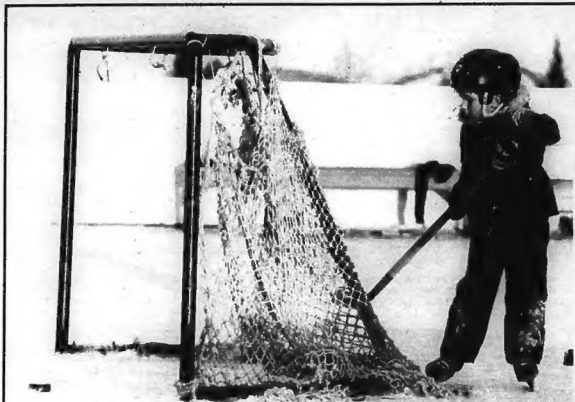

According to LaBranche talks have reached the critical stage because the developers don't want to lose the project.

The proposed pulp mill talks are being heard by H. L. Plamche, Minister of Economic Development and John Zosirny, Minister of Energy and Natural Resources.

LaBranche, who was Drayton Valley's mayor when the pulp and paper mill came to light about five years ago, stated, "Nothing could please me more to see this project go."

"Drayton Valley has experienced the boom and bust cycle and it's been hard on the community." But this project won't be that according to LaBranche. She sees it as being quite stable and another major industry for the town.

Netminder

While six-year-old Daryl Mack wasn't in on this goal at the town's outdoor rink near H.W. Pickup Junior High School, he found some solace doing a little netminding behind the scenes Sunday afternoon. Other young hockey buffs will have a similar opportunity next week with the start of the annual Minor Hockey Week in Drayton Valley.

School strike looms as talks continue

A Tuesday, Jan. 15 meeting was held between the Leduc County Board of Education and the Alberta Teachers Association (ATA) in an effort to avert a threatening teachers' strike.

The situation climaxed Friday when 84 per cent of county teachers voted to walk out in support of contract demands. But as of Monday, strike notice was not served.

ATA officials could not be reached for comment.

A legal walkout cannot commence until 72 hours after strike notice is issued.

If strike notice is given Tuesday, the earliest teachers could man picket lines would be Monday, confirmed county school superintendent Bob MacDonald.

A strike would affect schools throughout Leduc County, including Breton and Warburg.

The two parties failed to reach an agreement Friday after an ATA negotiator rejected the board's offer of zero for 1984 and a two per cent increase for 1985.

Admitting he was not surprised by the teachers' vote, school board chairman Albert Klapstein said he is hopeful a settlement can be reached.

"I'm hopeful some kind of solution to the problem can be found before the matter comes down to a strike situation — it remains to be seen," he said Monday.

Klapstein noted the ATA bargaining position has not changed throughout the talks although the school board has tabled increased offers.

"I'm hopeful there will be some indication of a willingness to make this work," he said. "Our negotiating committee would look at any position the ATA may put forward."

The teachers want a 20-month contract with zero increase from Jan. 1, 1984 to August 31, 1984 and a 4 1/2 per cent increase from Sept. 1, 1984 to Aug. 31, 1985.

About 98 per cent of the teachers attending a Nov. 28 meeting in Leduc rejected a joint countywide two-year agreement which offered a zero increase for 20 months and a one per cent increase for four months. At the same meeting, 93 per cent chose to request a strike vote.

Shortly after, the city school board elected to bargain independently of the county for 1984 and 1985 at the urging of the teachers.

County teachers sought a strike vote after an unsuccessful round of mediation talks Dec. 14.

At that time, the board offered no increase for 1984, a one per cent increment Jan. 1, 1985, and a 1 1/2 per cent increase Sept. 1, 1985.

The board contends the offer was in line with the recommendation made by its mediator who resolved it would bring a settlement.

"We went one step beyond that and offered to bring into policy a deferred salary plan in an attempt to make a deal," noted Klapstein.

Locals fined

A major Drayton Valley oilfield hauling company and two of its principals were fined a total of $146,000 for tax evasion Monday in Leduc Provincial Court.

M & R Trucking Ltd., Fredrick Bauman, and Douglas Baumann entered guilty pleas to charges of income tax evasion before Judge Alex Shamchuk.

The charges were laid after it was discovered the trucking firm evaded paying about $36,000 in taxes between May 1978 and June 1981. Douglas Baumann, 37, entered a guilty plea for evading payment of taxes in the amount of about $55,000 between Dec. 1978 and January 1982 while court heard Fredrick Bauman, 44, evaded payment of taxes during the same period in the amount of about $29,000. Fredrick Bauman was a Drayton Valley town councillor for a single term in the mid-1970s.

The judge fined the firm $36,000, Douglas Baumann $56,000 and Fredrick Bauman $25,000.

Barrhead seeks Sunday shopping fine

Council gets raise
Town council and staff in Barrhead gave themselves a three per cent raise to start the new year. Councilors will now get $84 for each regular or special council meeting and $35 for each committee or board meeting. The mayor of Barrhead also receives an additional honorarium of $1,090.

New treatment facility
A new 16-bed care unit for the treatment of alcohol and drug abuse will open Monday, Jan. 21 at the Wetaskiwin General Hospital. The new unit will provide a three- to four-week treatment program including medical detoxification, psychotherapy, group therapy, educational sessions, individual and family counselling sessions after care. Beginning Jan. 21 the hospital will operate a 24-hour Care Line (352-9217).

The Village of Beiseker is excited about receiving a $150,000 provincial grant to upgrade their sanitary sewer line, which is badly deteriorated.

Pulp mill

Makin Pulp and Paper Ltd. expect the construction and initial operation to include some 400 jobs and 900 new families for Drayton Valley. Emphasis will be placed on hiring locally.

The prospect of 900 new families doesn't concern LaBranche. Her own studies show lots of real estate on the market in Drayton Valley plus several service areas of numerous vacant lots.

As the first stage of its timber project Makin Pulp and Paper could construct an integrated pulp and paper mill in Drayton Valley and a coating and converting plant in the Red Deer area. Fine paper will be produced from the mix of soft woods and hard woods from the O'Chiese Block, with special emphasis on utilization of aspen.

This project has the advantage of the most advanced technology available in its machinery and equipment. Use of an innovative mechanical process, free of the objectionable odors of traditional mills, will result in cost-effective and efficient production of a variety of high-quality fine papers, along with some pulp for national and international markets.

Hearing Tests set for Drayton Valley

Electronic hearing tests will be given at the Drayton Valley Hotel, Drayton Valley, Alberta on January 24, 1985, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., for the Beltone Service Centre. Mr. Jim Massey, Beltone Consultant will be there to conduct the tests.

Anyone who has trouble hearing or understanding speech or words clearly is welcome to have the test using the Beltone L520 Speech Audiometer to determine the hearing aid most likely to help. Many people with a hearing loss can be helped with a hearing aid.

In-home testing is also available for shut-ins. If in Edmonton, call the Beltone office, Anderson Hearing Aid Service Ltd., 10606 - 124 Street, Phone 488-5893. Servicing the Hard of Hearing in this area since 1964, member of the Alberta Hearing Aid Audiologist Association.

Pool opening

The new Park Valley indoor swimming pool in Drayton Valley will be officially opened Saturday, Feb. 9.

However, the pool will not be open prior to that date and the first public swimming time will be the day following the official opening.

Recreation director Dennis Woosley reports that invitations are in the mail and about 100 people will be invited.

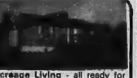

Unfortunately, no more people will be invited, as there's only space at the pool to accommodate those on the invited list.

Still with the pool, Woosley asks for the public's assistance regarding drop-in-tours of the new pool. Contractors are busy racing against the clock to get the facility ready and would appreciate that if anyone wants to tour the pool, they check with the recreation department.

Students dedicate their time

Children safer because of safety patrols

By Carol Dietrich

Their orange belts and stop signs have become a familiar sight around Elementary 'B' and St. Anthony schools.

And their dedication to their job is obvious. They are safety patrols, Grade 6 students who volunteer their time and energy to assist students across the street.

"Their purpose is not to stop traffic," said Kathy Schaefer, Elementary 'B' school safety patrol co-ordinator.

"They give the right of way to vehicles and wait for a break in traffic (before helping children cross.)"

Schaefer is in charge of 36 patrollers who signed up at the beginning of the year. "Teams of four students work once every three weeks."

And at Elementary 'B' school students who ride the bus patrol at noon and children who live in town work in the morning and after school. Each shift lasts about 15 minutes.

Rachelle Shahl is the patrol's captain and the two lieutenants are Chris Keown and Kim Torvinen. Patrollers with difficulties consult with their superiors before going to Schaefer.

"But we have a monthly meeting where we talk about any problems or new regulations."

To reward the children who donate their time, Schaefer gives them treats and at the end of the year presents awards.

About 25 patrollers take care of the lights by St. Anthony school, with Anne Marchi as captain and Sandra Lee serving as lieutenant.

"There are three groups that work once every three weeks," said Zib Szatkowski, co-ordinator in charge of the school's patrollers.

Four times during the day — morning, at lunch dismissal, after lunch and after school — school patrols are on the street corners.

And because their efforts are voluntary, Szatkowski also hands out treats to his patrollers.

Sponsored by the Canadian Motor Association, throughout the year, the students involved in the school patrol receive theatre passes as well.

At the end of the year, certificates of merit and leadership and top patroller awards.

Grade 6 patroller Anne Marchi, with sign and belt, stops noon-hour traffic near St. Anthony School.

And the local RCMP are supportive as well, he said. "Sometimes they hand out crests."

Incidents like the one last October where a youth driving a vehicle caused minor injuries to a school patrol are uncommon, said Schaefer. "Drivers are really good."

However Szatkowski said patrollers earn their keep. "Sometimes they take abuse from older students."

And they do get hassled by a few drivers, he added.

Children at Eldorado school are assisted in crossing the street four times a day by Kathy Clelland.

The town-hired patroller spends 25 to 30 minutes in the morning, before and after noon and after school.

"It's a busy corner, especially now with the gas station."

Opinions

Crowds good for juniors

My very first weekend in Drayton Valley was spent at the Centennial Arena. The occasion was two Junior 'B' Blades games.

The scores are now history. But in case you missed them, the Blades upset the Rimbey West Stars 3-2 then dropped a 14-1 decision to Hinton.

The one aspect of those two home games that impressed me was the fan support. It was surprising to say the least.

According to the Blades hockey club, 150 fans paid to see the Rimbey game, with 140 turning out for the Hinton contest. That's been about average, with a high of 200 fans for a game prior to Christmas.

Blades' coach Lorne Poulin has expressed his satisfaction with the turnouts, but at the same time, he hopes the crowds will get better as the hockey team gets better, and playoffs approach.

To the average Drayton Valley on-lookers, 150 to 200 fans to a junior hockey game might seem like peanuts. But consider this for a moment.

The Red Deer Rustlers are the top draw in the Alberta Junior 'A' Hockey League, averaging about 550 fans per home game. They have an immediate drawing area of 52,000 people from the City of Red Deer plus the surrounding rural area.

When you put Drayton Valley's population of 5,000 beside that, plus their drawing areas, one quickly realizes the tremendous fan support the Blades receive.

Gate receipts from Blades' home game go toward ice rental and officials. Only once this year has the club directors been forced to dig into their pockets to pay the bills.

There's a lot of headaches involved in running a junior hockey club, but it has to be encouraging to see such tremendous fan support.

Birds of winter feed

Carefully these little Chickadees pick kernels of grain out of the snow. These friendly little birds never harm anything, they just fly around from place to place picking up the waste from cattle or what people leave for them. Chickadees are probably one of winter's kindnesses.

Feature recognizes volunteers

The phone rang, and rang, and rang, and rang. I counted 25 rings and still no answer. Do you think for a moment that Stuart Adams, the Montreal Canadian's No. 1 fan, knew the call was from Drayton Valley?

Oh no, I'm sure if he knew I was calling about the Oiler's 5-2 win over the Habs last Thursday night, that he'd answer. Guess I'll just have to wait until the next match-up between the two NHL clubs before I get a chance to tell Stu just how great Wayne is.

Your Comment

What do you think about the enforcement of the downtown parking bylaw?

Vena Johanson
Drayton Valley

I think it's a good idea because it'll give more people a chance to park. This way you have to go around the block a few times to find a place.

Dall Platz
Drayton Valley

It's a good idea. A lot of people come downtown to park and have nowhere to go. It would ensure that employees would park elsewhere, too.

Cindy Cook
Drayton Valley

If you go in for a 2 1/2 hr. perm or spend a lot of money in town, it doesn't seem right to have to pay a parking ticket as well.

Gerry Mussell
Drayton Valley

I think it's good. A lot of people park for hours and hours. They're taking business from the stores they park in front of.

Ed Roberts
Drayton Valley

I think the best thing they could do is enforce it. Some people park here for hours.

Disarmament welcomed

Dear Editor:

As mothers concerned for the future of our children on this threatened planet, we are very heartened by the positive outcome of this week's arms talks between the US and the USSR.

We are concerned, too, that plans to continue with the US Star Wars program and the cruise missile testing in Alberta may damage the fragile links that negotiators from both countries are trying to establish.

We have found encouragement to express our concerns in a constructive way through the peace movement which is growing steadily in Drayton Valley. We in turn encourage all who share our dread of nuclear war to join us in working for peace. (There will be a public meeting about nuclear disarmament on Feb. 14 at 7:30 p.m. in the H.W. Pickup library.)

Yours sincerely,

Viki Johnston, Lorraine Anderson,
Gillian Sniatynski, Sheila McGee,

Thank - you Joan

Dear Editor,

If you have taken a course in Basic Cake Decorating, Advanced Paper Tole or attended a Dough Art Workshop, then perhaps the words 'Powerhouse Further Education Council' are familiar. Many of the adult education courses offered in Drayton Valley are sponsored or subsidized by this council.

Over the past three years there has been one individual who has given a tremendous amount of time and energy behind the scenes. Her name is Joan Duckett, the outgoing co-ordinator for Powerhouse. Due to Joan's commitment and dedication, the council has changed with the times and courses reflect community needs such as Computer Literacy, Job Search Workshop, Break Dancing and Suicide Intervention.

The council has reached many goals. Perhaps the most outstanding is the attaining the status of a registered society, the first in Alberta. Without the strong support of our co-ordinator these goals were far out of reach. Thank you Joan for your endless commitment to life long learning.

Sincerely,

Mary Tourneur, council member

Pool offers public well balanced program

Pre-school swimming and adult fitness will play key roles in Park Valley Pool's programming, according to pool manager Charlene Jenkins.

Jenkins, former assistant manager at Spruce Grove Community Pool, was hired mid-December to oversee pool operations and scheduling. The indoor facility, now more than 90 per cent complete, will open to the public Feb. 10 following a special, invitation only ceremony Feb. 9.

Today, swimming pools must offer the public more than simply a place to swim lengths, Jenkins says, which means designing specialized programs for attracting different interest groups.

"I'd like to see an emphasis on pre-school programming and adult fitness, instead of just swimming lengths back and forth. You have to offer something more versatile."

"You have to provide a place where they (the public) can come and have a good time.

"It's an attitude: an atmosphere. If they come in and enjoy themselves, they'll want to come back. (You can't get that with a tank pool, not to the same degree."

"Drayton Valley is a very young community," Jenkins said. "(Children) need special programming and we've designed a six-level program for them, from six months to five years old. And the pool is certainly designed for it (with depths) from two inches to 10 feet."

Jenkins said feedback from the public about the facility and programming will be important to the operation and hopes "to develop programs that meet their (the public's) needs.

"A lot of ideas will be tried and error, but I think we'll offer a well-balanced program."

Previously, Jenkins has worked at swimming pools in Stony Plain and Grande Prairie. She worked as the assistant manager at Spruce Grove since 1980.

"Park Valley Pool is much more than I expected for a community Drayton Valley's size," she said about the new facility. "It should serve the community for some time. And that's important, rather than building the basics and waiting to add on."

Assistant pool manager Terry Lynch, who began Monday, has previously worked at pools in St. Albert.

Resident moves on

Economist satisfied with accomplishments

Ten years in one job is long enough for anyone and after a decade of serving Drayton Valley and district, home economist Janice McGregor is moving on.

"I really like this area and a lot of clients are friends, but you reach a point where you need to move."

McGregor is transferring to Lacombe Feb. 1 to take the position of home economist. "Lacombe has a population of 5800, but I will be serving seven or eight smaller communities as well."

The Edmonton native has been in the local Alberta Agriculture office since July 1974. She worked in Fort Vermilion for two years after graduating from the University of Alberta with her B.Sc. in home economics.

She feels that during her stay in Drayton Valley she has accomplished a number of things. "I helped form the district 4-H council for this area and the number of clubs has increased."

"And I've been quite involved in nutrition and food preservation."

The home economist said her stay here has been educational as well. "I've learned as much from clients as they have from me."

"And I am constantly amazed at the variety of questions I receive. I always feel good when I can give people the information they need."

Certain questions seem to come up time after time. "During canning season I'll get questions about jars that don't seal."

Other re-occurring inquiries involve spots and stains. "Sometimes you just can't solve their problems," she said. "And people expect that you will always be able to."

No replacement has been found yet, but people with questions can still call because there is a resource file in the office.

Or if they wish they may call the home economists in Leduc or Evansburg.

A Thoughtful Suggestion...

WHY should you travel extra miles and use up extra gas hours to shop out of town?

ANSWER:
You shouldn't! You can save time, gas and trouble by shopping right here in your hometown store. Further, more, modern distribution brings the newest merchandise here as fast as anywhere and lower overhead cost, than in larger places, keep prices DOWN in Leduc.

HOW can this community grow and prosper, provide opportunities for our young people, unless hometown folks spend most of their money here at home?

ANSWER:
If can't! Dollars spent away are gone forever. Dollars spent in Leduc stimulate trade activity, finance business expansion and increase employment.

WHERE
is the money coming from to maintain and improve our schools, our churches, the library, civic services and other community facilities?

ANSWER:
Much of it comes from taxes paid and contributions made by all local business people. Part of every dollar you spend locally helps build a better community for your family and for you!

Let's Make It A Better, Happier Community for Everyone!

Students perform program

By Carol Dietrich
Students enrolled in the performing arts class at Frank Maddock High School have prepared since September for tonight.

At 7 p.m. they take to the high school theatre to perform for the public a total of eight dance numbers, some they've created on their own.

The performance, worth 25 per cent of their final mark, will include jazz, modern dance and a chorus line number.

Fifteen girls, as well as a special projects student, are taking part in the class this term and very few of them have any actual dance experience, said instructor Brenda Prentice.

"They don't have trouble picking up routines, because it is geared toward students who haven't had any training."

The class is taught every day. "And by the end of October, the girls are quick at picking up new things.

Performing arts students will perform "Re-encounters of the third kind", a number they created themselves for the show.

"The whole idea behind the class is enjoyment and appreciation."

"We are not so worried about technique," she added.

"If the girls come out of the class liking dance, then a major goal has been accomplished."

Though the class is open to male students as well as females, not one has enrolled in the five years the class has been taught.

Girls in Grades 10-12 who do enroll in the course generally like dance and want to be fit, Prentice said.

Nominations taken

Village of Wildwood will be taking nominations to fill one council seat from 10 a.m. to 12 noon on Monday, Jan. 21.

The council seat became vacant on the resignation of Councillor Tim Yuhasz. Yuhasz moved to Estevic and was no longer eligible for a council seat.

A new council member will join Peter Margiotta (mayor), Cliff Davis (deputy mayor), and councillors Charlotte Winters and David Hearty on council.

Nomination forms are available at the Village office during regular office hours.

ATTENTION MESSAGE TO ALL NATURAL GAS CONSUMERS

As you are aware, the Natural Gas Price Protection Plan that Alberta Consumers have enjoyed the last few years, is slated for removal in the near future. The increase amounts to approximately 62/1000 cu. ft. (59¢ gigajoule). If you feel as we do, that Alberta Consumers would really appreciate the continuance of the Natural Gas Price Protection Plan,

PLEASE SAY SO!

If you also feel that additional heating costs would put an additional burden on your home or business costs

Charity auction date

The ninth annual Drayton Valley Association for the Developmentally Handicap charity auction will introduce a 'new twist' this year.

Executive director Ron Szala isn't letting the cat out of the bag on the new act, but he says those who were involved in last year's pie throwing will be delighted.

The charity auction will be held on Valentine's Day, Feb. 14 in the Rec-Plex.

Wendy Sekura will return as auctioneer with the auction to be held from 7 to 11 p.m.

with viewing from 6 to 7 p.m.

Szala reports that his committee are working on some major items for the auction, and they will begin their canvass of local business this week. Any donations of new and used items would be welcome.

Braidnor foursome wins Oilmen's bonspiel

Forty-eight rinks from across Alberta competed in the 20th annual Drayton Valley Oilmen's Bonspiel Jan. 11-13.

The Braidnor rink from Edmonton defeated Grande Prairie's Porta-Test rink, last year's winner, with a score of 7-5 in the first event final.

Two Edmonton rinks, B.W. Rig and Hi Alta, went head-to-head in the second event final. But B.W. Rig emerged the victor in a close 6-5 match. Dome Petroleum and Baker Oil Testing, both local rinks, competed in the third event final. Dome Petroleum proved to be the better of the two, winning with a score of 6-3.

"The first event final was anybody's game," said Braidnor's third Hank Shimabashi.

"It was decided on the last rock of the 10th end."

He was pleased with the quality of this year's entries. "Competition was excellent and the ice conditions were good for all three days."

"We were proud to win over the Porta-Test rink because they are perennial winners," he added.

John Penning, Porta-Test's skip, didn't make much comment about Sunday's play. "It was brutal. Three games is a lot of play in one day."

At Horne, president of the sponsoring Pembina Oilmen's Association, felt the annual event was a success this year. "We had a good bonspiel and had our usual good participation from curlers and sponsors."

"There was some keen competition in the final games," he added.

"We get good competitors from out of town but the local rinks held their own."

Local rink qualifies

The Joe Hoshowski rink of Drayton Valley has qualified for the Northern Alberta seniors curling playdowns.

At the Zone 16 playdowns held on the weekend in Spruce Grove, Hoshowski, accompanied by Zoltan Liba, Fred Snell and Bert Trueman, went undefeated, chalking up a perfect 5-0 record.

At the end of January they travel to Edmonton for the Northern Alberta playoffs.

Hoshowski and his crew downed Hinton twice on the weekend, in both the "A" and "B" finals. They also defeated rinks from Jasper, Spruce Grove and Whitecourt.

Carl Passy, the zone convenor who accompanied the rink to Spruce Grove, said they were the best rink there.

Meanwhile, it wasn't a very rewarding weekend for Drayton Valley's Elson Keown. They bowed out of the Zone 16 men's playoffs, also held at Spruce Grove, in three games. They lost a 10th end decision in their first game by a 6-5 count to an Edison rink, rebounded with a 9-4 win over Sanguo and were eliminated when they dropped a 6-4 decision to Spruce Grove.

Poulin out, Sinclair in as Blades' coach

With a new coach behind the bench, the Drayton Valley Blades earned a split in their two games this past weekend in the Central Alberta Junior "B" Hockey League.

In an effort to turn things around, the Blades' management replaced Lorne Poulin with Les Sinclair.

The Blades responded with an 8-6 win over Rocky Mountain House last Wednesday, then dropped an 11-2 decision to Rimby last Friday. The split leaves the Blades in fifth place in the sixteen league with a 6-16 record.

Tonight (Wednesday), the Blades travel to Hobbema, are home Friday night to Barrhead and then play Saturday and Sunday at Hinton.

Ski equipment to be marked

The local RCMP detachment, in co-operation with the Drayton Valley Ski Club, will provide a ski identification program.

One of many RCMP public services, the free program will mark ski equipment with the owner's drivers license number during a one-day service at the Drayton Valley Ski Hill, Const. Bill Watkins said. No date has been set.

The program is offered annually, but due to poor snow conditions locally, was not held at the ski hill since 1981, Watkins said.

Skiers interested in having their equipment marked but cannot attend the one-day program can visit the local RCMP office at an earlier date.

"It (identification) is certainly a good idea if you do a lot of skiing," Watkins said.

If equipment is stolen, "it at least helps us to identify it."

With improved snow conditions and the opening of the ski hill two weeks ago, the RCMP also advise they'll be conducting more patrols in the area and alcohol on the hill is prohibited.

Stenberg nets five

Bob Stenberg scored five goals as the Drayton Valley Lamplighters downed the Wetaskiwin Relics.

Tomorrow (Thursday) night the Lamplighters travel to St. Albert for an exhibition game and this weekend play in a tournament at Hinton.

a 14-4 decision to the Wetaskiwin Relics.

Tomorrow (Thursday) night the Lamplighters travel to St. Albert for an exhibition game and this weekend play in a tournament at Hinton.

In another game, the Lamplighters dropped

Poulin, who took over the coaching reins for the final month last year and chalked up an 8-2 win-loss record and had his club playing .500 hockey in December, was very bitter over the coaching change.

It came at a management meeting, just after the Blades had upset Rimby and lost to Hinton.

Poulin says the move didn't come as a surprise.

The former Blades' boss said when things were not going good back in November, he offered to step down but no one took him up on the offer.

While he wasn't surprised, Poulin thinks management made the move at the wrong time of the season. He feels the kids were just starting to improve and there was never any doubt in his mind, about missing the playoffs.

While stepping down as the Blades' coach was a bitter pill to swallow, Poulin said, "these things happen in hockey."

He's not even sure he will stay on the Blades' management committee. "I'm undecided about my hockey future. I enjoyed this past week off," he stated.

Keith Bills had both Blade goals in their loss to Rimby. Against Rocky Mountain House, Paul Stables led the way with three goals and one assist while Dean Mulgrew had one goal and three assists. Kevin Hutchinson, Duane Parenteau, Mike Benoit and Don Monts had the other goals.

Getzinger Rangers downed Wabamun 3-1 Sunday.

Mites

The Braidnor Mites fought for a 5-5 tie with the Thorsby mites Jan. 12 in one of the team's only away games. The J&A and Flint Mites lost away games Jan. 13 7-0 in Edson and against Devon respectively.

In house-league action, J&A lost to Flint 4-2 and beat Braidnor 6-1.

Fee Wee

The Getzinger Rangers skated to a 3-1 victory over the Wabamun Warriors in exhibition hockey at Centennial Civic Arena Sunday. Centre Randy Kelse scored first and second period goals while Daylen Pennmuller scored the winner at the 6:20 mark of the second period.

Goaltender Dean McDowell faced a total of 17 shots — 12 in the first period — while teammates fired 32 at Wabamun's Chris Wyle.

On Saturday, Getzinger lost 4-2 against Lacombe Blues.

Clippers win

Everett Ness scored two goals as the Drayton Valley Clippers defeated visiting Ponoka 6-5 Sunday for their first midweek win of the season.

According to those who attended, the short-staffed Clippers played a strong game. Minus three regulars, the Clippers led 4-2 late in the second period when the game was halted by an hour-long power outage. When action resumed, the Clippers made it 6-4 before Ponoka came back late in the game to make it close.

A Ponoka player was taken from the game by stretcher and to hospital by ambulance. However, it turned out to be just a strained knee.

In making his presentation to town council, recreation director Dennis Woosley said the rates should be a little high because it's a new facility. Woosley also added that the fees for the Park Valley pool, scheduled to open to the public Feb. 10, are higher than most communities.

While members of council didn't have any trouble with the rates, some were very concerned with the season ticket structure.

Councillor Howard Olsen felt the $350 season ticket for a family was okay, but there should be some system whereby the swimmer could pay the sum in installments.

Manny Deol, town manager, backed Olsen's stand by stating, "People want to try out the pool first before making a $350 commitment."

As a result the system of paying for season tickets will be investigated by the recreation director with a report to come back to council.

Town looking at meter rentals

To pay or not to pay. That's the decision facing Drayton Valley town council regarding paying interest on meter rentals.

Bob Dykes, municipal secretary, told council last week that he had contacted the Department of Municipal Affairs and there was nothing in any of the Acts defining payment.

While most of the councillors indicated they felt it wasn't necessary to pay the interest, Tom McGee had other thoughts.

McGee said he had contacted AGT and they are paying 7.5% on telephone rental deposits.

"I realize the administration of this would be hard, but I support the ratepayers. If we have their money, we should be paying interest," McGee stated.

Councillor Charlie Miner said he had some thoughts both ways. "It's not a straight flat issue. We should be sure before we proceed," he added.

Manny Deol, town manager, felt that because of the mixture of feelings, that more information was necessary. The issue was tabled until council meets Jan. 31.

National Non-Smoking Week is Jan. 17-23.

Non-smoking week coming

If you never did keep that New Year's resolution to quit smoking, don't worry, another good opportunity has come up.

It's National Non-Smoking Week Jan. 17-23 so why not get involved by actually giving up the habit once and for all?

Locally, no major activities honoring Non-Smoking week will be held but in an effort to make youngsters aware of the problems associated with smoking West Central Health Unit will distribute pamphlets to schools.

H.W. Pickup Junior High School principal Colin Cavanagh felt this awareness campaign for students would be worthwhile.

"More and more kids are smoking and I'd like to see something done about it," he said.

St. Anthony school principal Ron Williams noted students will be informed on the issue of smoking in regular health classes but wasn't too concerned over the problem.

"We have a very limited number of smoking students and staff," he pointed out.

At Frank Maddock High School, counsellor Jim Wolff said smoking among students has decreased over the past few years.

"Fewer and fewer students smoke," he noted. "In this high school smokers are the minority."

And it appears that's the way things are going all around the country.

According to Health and Welfare Canada the number of smokers in the country has dropped, with about two-thirds of the population now non-smokers.

Local Alberta Alcoholism and Drug Abuse Commission director Bob Turner noted at one point the situation was the other way around.

"Now people who smoke know they're the minority."

Executive chosen

Lioness club formed locally

With the Jan. 8 election of an executive for the Drayton Valley Lioness Club, a goal for local Lions Club members was achieved.

The Lions Club has been a part of the community for 14 years, and now the female counterpart of the association, the Lioness club, has become a reality. Comprised of wives of members, as well as other interested women, the group will be a self-supporting entity, but one associated with the Lions club.

Elected charter (founding) president is Ferne Kinniburgh, Chris Stasiuk is vice-president, and Denise Robinson will serve as treasurer and Pam Schaub is treasurer.

The three directors are Deanna Bowen, Linda Fiddler and Evelyn Kennedy.

Bill Currie will be Lioness chairman of Multiple District 37G which encompasses Montana, Alberta, British Columbia and the Northwest Territories.

President Ferne Kinniburgh is enthused about the formation of the club. "I am truly honored to have been nominated and voted in."

"I never dreamed that in 1978 when I was chosen to be the charter president of the new Lioness club in Torrington (Alta.) that seven years later I would have the joy and fulfillment of holding that position again."

The true meaning of Lionism through the Lions and Lioness clubs is "people caring for people," she added.

"They are men and women who care deeply about those in need and who demonstrate their care in action."

"As caring people, we must be sensitive to the needs of others."

She expects the club will have a good sized membership. Fund-raising and allocation of funds will be discussed in the near future. And charter members can join up to Jan. 22, the date of our next meeting.

Kinniburgh said she looks forward to the Evergreen Rodeo. "I'm sure we will have fund-raising booths or raffish."

"People by then will definitely be aware that we are here in the community and here to constantly leave a good and lasting impression."

The idea of forming a Lioness club has been around for several years, said Lions club president Bob Kennedy.

"We tried to establish it once before but there wasn't enough support."

However, this time around it was in ample supply, he said.

The Lioness club will be involved in activities similar to those the Lions participate in, he said.

"They would do fund raising on a smaller scale with set projects in mind. Even though it would not be of the same magnitude as the Lions, it would still be very worthwhile."

"As far as decision making, projects and dispersal of money goes, they are responsible," Kennedy said.

He said the two clubs could help each other in many ways. "It is feasible the Lions and Lioness clubs could double up on some projects."

"The Lioness club will benefit the Lions club by making it a lot stronger."

DV Presents offers two shows

Drayton Valley Presents will offer its second and third season shows January 18 and February 1.

The folk duo Sweet Grass, featuring former Tanna Hill Weavers player Bill Bourne and Jim Morrison, former player with the late Stan Rogers will be at the Westwinds' dining room this weekend.

"They (Bourne and Morrison) really enjoy what they're doing," Drayton Valley Presents president Mary Poloway said. "And it really comes across to the audience. They seem to have so much fun on stage. They have a good rapport with the audience."

Sweet Grass's performance ranges from the blues to folk to jazz music to their own original compositions, Poloway said.

The duo will play in a setting similar to the Alley Cats performance last fall, she added.

On Feb. 1, the Arrie Mime Troupe will be at the Rec Plex. The internationally renowned trio perform various skits and acrobatics in modern mime fashion.

Drayton Valley Present's last show for the 1984-85 season is scheduled March 18 with Prima Donna, a one-woman opera spoof performed by former singer Mary Lou Fallis.

"Prima Donna was one of the hits of the whole Showcase last year," Poloway said. Showcase is an annual production where artists and performers display their various talents for groups such as Drayton Valley Presents.

Szala returned to Rural Crime Watch board

Ron Szala has been re-elected to his third term as president of Rural Crime Watch.

Vice-president Bob Kilching and secretary Ivan Volk were also returned to the 1985 executive at the annual meeting held Jan. 10 at the Rocky Rapids Hall. Ann Kjolien is the groups' new treasurer.

RCMP Cpl. Reid Leary, crime prevention coordinator and public relations officer from Morinville, was the guest speaker. His topic dealt with various types of crime, stressing preventative measures.

The three-hour meeting which attracted 45 members, decided to continue their support of the Cattle Barons Ball, which is the agricultural banquet and dance, Feb. 23 in the Rocky Rapids Hall. Running the bar at this function is a major fund raiser for Rural Crime Watch.

In other business, the meeting decided to purchase an identification kit and have members ID their valuables, attend Rural Crime Watch meetings in other areas and to get all members to put their signs on gate and corner posts.

Szala will be meeting with his 12 directors shortly, outlining their job description.

Chamber plans three - day carnival in March

Drayton Valley and area residents can look forward to a winter carnival early in March.

As a new project, the local Chamber of Commerce will sponsor three event-filled days March 8-10, with activities ranging from crowning of a carnival queen to outdoor activities.

Carnival chairman Merv Pasula said the event is being staged to help promote the town and give locals an opportunity to become involved in something during the usually quiet season.

"There isn't any winter activity in the town which includes everybody," he pointed out.

"We want to make this a community affair." The Chamber will work alongside the Drayton Valley Figure Skating Club which will hold its annual show at the same time as the carnival.

Other tentative activities include a fashion show, a family dinner and dance, indoor athletic events and casinos.

However, Pasula noted what actually takes place during the carnival is highly dependent on local service clubs and organizations.

"We've written a number of letters inviting participation," he said, adding it appears groups are interested in taking part.

It's expected plans for the carnival will be more definite later this month, with the deadline for submissions from organizations just having passed.

Music festival dates

The Seventh Annual Edson Music Festival will be held from April 17-19 and 22-25, with the final concert and presentation of awards taking place on the evening of April 28.

The first three days of the festival will include piano, organ, vocal solo, choral and dance classes and the following four days will accommodate the band, instrumental solo and solo and choral speech classes.

The festival has drawn participants from many centres throughout West Central Alberta and has grown in seven years from the original 170 entries to in excess of 700 entries. Festival organizers hope to make this year's festival the most successful ever and to truly celebrate International Youth Year.

Copies of the Provincial Syllabus and entry cards for the festival are now available and may be obtained by contacting Margaret O'Connell, secretary, Edson Music Festival Association, Box 41, Edson or by calling her at 723-3281. Teachers and festival participants are encouraged to act now as the deadline for entries for this year's festival is Feb. 28. Copies of the festival program will be available in early April.

Access

TV programs switched

Some cable TV channels were relocated when Alberta's satellite educational TV network (ACCESS) began broadcasting on Sunday evening, Jan. 18.

QCTV advises subscribers in Drayton Valley that ACCESS will automatically be on cable channel 3 and subscribers to the optional movie channel will find First Choice/Superchannel on cable channel 5 only and no longer duplicated on 13.

Meeting planned

The Drayton Valley and District Agricultural Society meeting will be held on Monday, Jan. 21, 7:30 p.m. in the Provincial Building. The annual Fall Fair will be discussed. All interested are asked to attend.

Tomahawk 4-H events

By Garrett Wilkie
The Tomahawk 4-H Beef Club will be holding their Public Speaking Event Feb. 22 at 7:30 p.m. in the Tomahawk school gym.

Other up-coming events decided on at Tuesday's monthly meeting were: a members' call tour on Jan. 26 at 1 p.m. starting at Kohuts, and on Feb. 2 at the Tomahawk curling rink all the 4-H clubs in Drayton Valley area will meet for a fun day of curling.

The Wildwood Rod and Gun Club had their raffle drawn in December. Pat Schmalz of Edmonton won the snowblower and Mary Pullyhack of Hinton won the booster cables.

Brian Howe and family spent the holidays with relatives and friends in Calgary.

Ken Joseph and daughter of Calgary were visitors in Wildwood last week.

Sympathy is extended to the Lyphke families on the death of a niece of Fox Creek. Also to Diana Sinchyna and family, as she was Diana's sister-in-law.

The Bob Hatfields, Robby and Mrs. Lynch spent Christmas at Red Deer.

The A.E. Winfields, the Dan Winfields and family spent New Years at Alan's in Spruce Grove.

On Wednesday afternoon some senior citizens enjoyed carpet bowling at the centre.

Come and play whilst every Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Senior Citizens Centre.

Mrs. Leakvold, Mrs. Geller and Mrs. Stien-wandt visited Sarah Jeffrey to help her celebrate her birthday.

The Bruce Tindalls spent Christmas with their son and family in Edmonton.

Tony Seimens had her sister of Edmonton visiting.

Get well wishes to Julia Rahy who is home from the hospital.

Happy birthday wishes to Sue Myers, Bob Thompson and Anne Szutak.

Want to curl? Get your broom and head for the Wildwood Family Complex. For ice time phone the complex.

The men's bonspiel will be held the weekend of Jan. 26.

Lena Callioux spent four weeks visiting her family in Grande Prairie, Peace River and Sherwood Park.

The church is sponsoring a film about abortion called "Assignment Life", at the Grand Trunk High School Jan. 20 at 7:30 p.m. Admission free.

Get well wishes to Elaine Winfield who had surgery in the Royal Alex hospital.

Sales tax exemptions advantage to farmers

Some farmers may be paying more than they have to for farm equipment, lumber, steel, cement or other supplies by not taking advantage of federal sales tax exemptions.

The one per cent increase in federal sales tax Oct. 1 makes this exemption all the more valuable. Alan Schideler, farm management economist with Alberta Agriculture, explains that The Excise Tax Act incorporates two types of exemptions: unconditional and conditional. Most farm equipment has an unconditional exemption, meaning no sales tax is included in its price. Conditional exemptions apply to multi-purpose items like electrical wire, cable, pipes, welding equipment and garden tractors. When a farmer incorporates such items into production equipment, he is not required to pay sales tax, although it is normally included in the price.

Conditional sales tax exemptions are available only when the multi-purpose items are used in production or manufacturing. For example, the materials used to build a log barn are not considered tax exempt but the materials used for pens, feeding systems and farrowing crates may be. In a beef operation, materials used for fences, corrals and pole shed barns are not exempt but materials used to build self-feeders, feed-bunks and hay-wagons may be. When a farmer buys an item like a hay-wagon already assembled, the federal sales tax is already included in the price, but if the farmer signs an end-user certificate, the retailer will deduct the federal tax.

To claim a refund on multi-purpose items, a farmer must do the calculations on form N15 from Revenue Canada and send it to the nearest district excise office. A second way of claiming a tax exemption is to have the retailer or manufacturer indicate on the invoice the actual sales tax paid. That amount is fully refundable. Claims take an average of six weeks for processing.

Different refund rates apply to different materials and equipment. As a guide, for every $100 spent on lumber at the retail level, the refund will be $2.50.

Farmers may go back four years to claim refunds. If, during that time you've bought any multi-purpose items, it might be worth the time and effort to see whether the sales tax can be refunded.

This article mentions only a few of the many exemptions to farmers. For further information contact the district office of Revenue Canada Customs and Excise.

Drugs and athletics puts pressure on coaches

By Chris McKenna
AADC

In 1960, a cyclist died at the Rome Olympic Games; he had taken a drug to aid his performance. In 1967, two well-known cyclists also died; amphetamines were found in their bodies.

Since then, the number of athletes, both amateur and professional, who are turning to drugs in an effort to improve performance is increasing. In 1983, at the Pan American Games, 15 athletes were disqualified when it was discovered that they had been taking anabolic steroids to build up their muscles. Despite condemnation by sport-governing bodies around the world of the use of drugs for this purpose and scientific data on the many dangers of "doping", the problem still exists.

It is time coaches take the offensive in drug education. There are more teachable moments in a sports experience than in most other activities affecting young people. The coach is the teacher, leader, and counsellor who accompanies these experiences. This unique relationship gives the coach the opportunity to assist athletes in making sensible choices about drug use.

Some coaches might feel that they are unqualified to be drug counsellors. However, the coach does not necessarily need a great deal of drug information. What is important is not how much a coach knows about drugs, but his unique position in relation to his athletes and that he must keep an open, positive attitude. Because the coach sees an athlete under many different situations, he or she can detect possible changes in lifestyle or personality — indications that something is wrong.

AUTOMATION TECHNICIAN

Amoco Canada Petroleum Company Ltd. has an immediate vacancy for an Automation Technician in Drayton Valley. Primary responsibilities will be the maintenance and repair of an oilfield production monitoring system.

In addition to a high school diploma, applicants should possess a Technical School Diploma in a related technology. Preference will be given to applicants with prior experience maintaining computerized automation and/or telemetry equipment.

Interested candidates are invited to submit applications with a complete resume to: Amoco Canada Petroleum Company Ltd., P.O. Box 9900, Drayton Valley, Alberta T0E 0M0.

An attitude of openness is vital. An athlete must feel that he can communicate with his coach. A coach must also be empathic towards his athletes. Empathy is the ability to step into another's shoes, to see through another's eyes. Through empathy a coach can come to understanding. This understanding can lead to a mutual agreement between the coach and the athlete as to what steps to take. This permits disciplinary action, if necessary, without rejection.

It is important to familiarize himself with available resources such as drug counselling centres and crisis clinics. It must be remembered that all drug problems are not just chemical problems.

An athlete's self-concept and motivation, which are as significant as his physical abilities, may also be affected. An informed coach can be more effective.

The end result of the counselling session is the advice given. The manner in which it is given is as important as what is said. Advice should be given in good faith and not from Mount Olympus. The fact that someone cares is often a good starting point.

Today's coach must take an active role in dealing with drugs in sport. His relationship to his players brings with it this responsibility.

Breathalyzer offences you should know

By Student Legal Services
University of Alberta

You can be convicted of impaired driving without ever going near a breathalyzer.

There are also a number of breathalyzer offences with which you can be charged if you are caught drinking and driving. These include driving or having care and control of a motor vehicle with a blood alcohol level of greater than 0.08, refusing to submit a breathalyzer, and refusing to submit to a roadside (ALERT) testing device.

You can also be charged with impaired driving AND a breathalyzer offence as a result of a single accident. However, you can only be convicted of one or the other.

In order to be convicted of impaired driving the Crown prosecutor must prove that your ability to drive was impaired by either alcohol or a drug.

Some of the evidence that may be introduced in court includes the way in which you were driving (eg. swerving) and physical factors such as walking ability, the appearance of your eyes, whether your speech was slurred, and the smell of your breath.

Every case is unique and no one factor will decide the outcome of the case. How the factors add up will decide if you will be convicted or not.

The evidence of your behaviour and physical symptoms will be much more persuasive in court than will your testimony that you only had a few drinks or that you felt fine and not at all impaired.

The Crown must also prove that you were driving (this is usually very easy to do) or that you had "care and control" of the vehicle.

As with breathalyzer offences whether or not you had care and control will depend on where you were in relation to the vehicle and where the keys to the vehicle were located.

If you were in the driver's seat with the keys in the ignition you are going to have a very hard time proving you did not have care and control of the vehicle.

The sentences for a first offence are the same as for breathalyzer offences. You may be liable for a fine of no less than $50 and no more than $2,000 and/or a jail term on no more than six months.

If you have previously been convicted of impaired driving or a breathalyzer offence you may be treated more harshly.

If the Crown prosecutor gives you notice that he or she is seeking a greater penalty the minimum sentence for a second offence is 14 days in prison.

If you have two or more previous convictions the minimum sentence is three months in prison.

Your licence is AUTOMATICALLY suspended for six months. It may be suspended for only three months if you can prove you only had care and control of the vehicle and were not driving it.

If you have been drinking it is not only safer, but cheaper to take a taxi considering the fine, possible jail term (and loss of employment), and legal costs of a conviction for impaired driving.

Getting fit a matter of choice

If the words "getting in shape" and "keeping fit" conjure such dreadful images as endless jogging or dancing to the beat of Michael Jackson or some other painful ideas, they needn't have to.

True, getting in shape and staying there requires more than a casual stroll and good intentions, but it's not as difficult as one might think.

While those involved with teaching and improving individual fitness may disagree with the way and means, they agree the best starting point is the doctor's office and a routine check up.

Once pronounced alive, well and able, the next step is to take a serious look at what you want to achieve in terms of fitness, be it cardiovascular fitness, strength, muscle endurance, flexibility or better body tone.

"The average Joe Blow starting out usually confuses what he wants (for fitness) with what they want to do," Dave Schwindt, the physical education instructor at Frank Maddock High School said, meaning the type of exercise a person chooses determines the area of fitness they work towards.

Fitness and conditioning, he says, is a specific science.

For example, while pumping iron can, depending on the particular exercise, help strength and muscle endurance, it does little for the cardiovascular system or flexibility.

While Schwindt advises a balanced program that includes all areas of fitness, he personally stresses cardiovascular conditioning.

"I don't mind if my triceps are weak, but I do mind if my heart is weak. You're not going to die from a weak tricep, but you could die from a weak heart."

The current trend, as seen in the explosion of joggers and dance-type exercise classes in recent years, is toward improved cardiovascular (heart, lungs and circulation) fitness.

The goal of cardiovascular conditioning, Schwindt says, is to exercise the heart through aerobic activity (jogging, swimming, dancing, cycling, cross-country skiing for examples) and maintain a level of heart-rate appropriate for different age categories during the exercise called a "target zone".

One long-range benefit from cardiovascular conditioning is a lower heart-rate per minute. The heart becomes stronger and requires less work to push blood through the body system.

Cardiovascular conditioning also increases the body's metabolic rate or the rate it burns food stuffs. One immediate benefit from aerobic exercise, Schwindt adds, is once you've actually stopped working, calories continue to burn as the body slowly recovers from the workout.

The type of exercise a person decides to use is as important as the training itself, Schwindt and accredited fitness tester Vicki Johnston say.

"You're never really going to get fit unless you enjoy (the conditioning)," Johnston explains, adding the key to "getting in shape" is finding something you enjoy doing.

At the beginning, she says, a person should set down the goals they want to strive for and then "find out what they like to do," be it aerobic dance or cross-country skiing or a variety of other exercises.

"The key is to start out easy; you have to have patience. You have to be realistic about it and take things gradually."

No magic formula to good eating

Eating right to stay healthy doesn't require a magic formula, in fact, the answer is almost too easy.

"A good food diet (as opposed to 'dieting') consists of a balance between proteins and carbohydrates, vitamins and minerals, fats and water — basically, the Canada Food Guide," local hospital nutritionist Linda Marshall said.

"There is no magic formula."

The Canada Food Guide, through television and print advertising, has been showing Canadians the benefits of the four food groups — meats, dairy products, bread and cereals and fruits and vegetables — for years, but many may not believe it.

"The Canada Food Guide isn't promoting any specific product, so it isn't an advertisement for merchandise. It's not advertising; it's a guide."

"If people would follow the Canada Food Guide there'd be a definite improvement in general fitness," Marshall said.

"If people take an interest (in fitness), then they'd probably take a keen interest in what they're eating as well. Both are an effort towards self-betterment."

Essentially, the guide advises to include portions from each of the four food groups at each meal and to maintain a balance intake throughout the day.

"You want your energy output and the amount of food intake to be about the same," Marshall explains, adding if you're trying to lose weight, your intake should be slightly less than your output.

"A balance is important because from the different food groups, you get a balance of nutrients."

Hearty exercising

"Exercise is good for you" — a remark touted boldly and endlessly by the gurus of fitness, but something not everyone cares to believe.

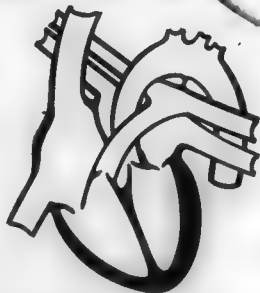

But before turning up your nose at the idea of physical fitness because it's something that's "good", you may want to know exactly what the virtues of exercise are.

According to the Alberta Heart Foundation regular, brisk exercise helps to develop extra blood vessels — collateral circulation — that could save your life if other blood vessels are damaged.

As well, exercise improves the ability for your lungs to process oxygen and your heart to pump blood.

However, if the health aspect of exercising still isn't enough to give you the urge to kick up your heels, there are some other advantages to keeping your body fit.

Improved digestion, more energy and sleeping better are all things the Alberta Heart Foundation says stem from regular exercise.

Family works together

Thompson active as volunteer

Linda Thompson has served on more committees in Drayton Valley than she cares to remember, but if there's one that stands out, it's Santas Anonymous. Actually, Santas Anonymous is a family affair, with Linda, her husband Ron, their seven children and even their 10 grandchildren sharing the work load. The idea of Santas Anonymous was born in the Thompson home when Linda became aware of a little girl that wanted a bike for Christmas, but the money wasn't available.

The project has experienced tremendous growth, climaxing with 122 families two years ago. The numbers were down a little this past campaign with 112 families, more than 300 children and 11 babies reaping benefits of the project.

While the Thompsons have spearheaded the annual drive for funds, food and toys, Linda appreciates the efforts of all. The Drayton Valley Legion have always given their support. "Everyone has just been wonderful," Linda said.

Citizen of the Week

Now that Santas Anonymous is all but out of the way for another year, Linda's attention turns to such community positions as president of Life Support, a member of the legion, the ladies' auxiliary, and member of the hospital auxiliary.

The Thompson family will likely be getting together again in June when they celebrate 30 years in Drayton Valley.

Student enjoys skiing, dancing

By Ray Lainchbury
This week's Student at Random is Jill VanderPloeu, who is currently in Grade 10 at Frank Madcock High School.

On Jan. 10, Jill will turn 16 years of age. Her hobbies include skiing, snowmobiling, swimming and water skiing.

This semester Jill is enrolled in Social Studies 10, Math 10, Drama 10, and Performing Arts. "The hardest one is math," Jill said.

Next semester she'll take Biology 10, Chemistry 10, Math 10, English 10, and Physical Education 10. "Next semester is going to be really tough," she said.

When asked if there were anything she would like to change about school, Jill said, "Of course."

"First of all I would make the courses easier, then I would make the days start at noon, so I could sleep in."

Student-at Random

"But actually I like high school, the teachers treat you as adults and the semesters go a lot faster."

Jill and her Performing Arts class will put on a public performance tonight. They'll be dancing to such Top 40 hits as 'Hello Again' by The Cars, 'She Bop' by Cyndi Lauper, 'Show Some Respect' by Tina Turner, 'Cut It' by Reflex and 'Jazz Hot', the theme song from Victor Victoria.

Elementary 'B' students take part in nutrition program

By Carol Dietrich
When's the last time you ate a canoe or indulged yourself with a tropical smile?

Since Jan. 14, students at Elementary 'B' school have been enjoying these and other tasty morsels three times a week.

The nutritional program sponsored by Alberta Agriculture will last until the week before spring break.

Snacks such as yogurt, milk, juices and cottage cheese will be given to the children mid-morning on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, said District Home Economist Janice McGregor.

For about 10 years now, local schools have taken part in the program whose main purpose is to promote nutritional education at the elementary level.

"We give the children a sample, just a taste. It isn't a feeding program."

"We want to expose them to food they may have never had before."

And using names like canoe for celery stuffed with peanut butter, mix-up for a combination of peanuts and nuts and tropical smile for slices of melon makes it that much more interesting for the youngsters.

It adds to the program's success. When they hear a name they try to figure out what the snack is going to be."

The success of the province-wide program is evident at home as well.

"Mothers have told me that their children have asked for foods that they've received at school."

"So it has modified food habits in some cases," McGregor said.

Not every elementary school participates in the nutritional program each year. "They are eligible every three years and must apply to take part in the program."

"Schools can state when they would prefer to have the three month program. The majority of them choose to run it during the winter because it is generally a down time."

McGregor will conduct a few in-service sessions with the children at Elementary 'B' school and drop off films for them to view.

And teachers will be a part of the program as well. "If the kids watch the teachers eating the snack, they will use them as role models."

"It is a learning process for the teachers too."

"We need co-operation from schools," she said, "And they have been really good about it."

Stone assumes new administrative position

The County of Leduc has created the position of executive assistant to the secretary-treasurer in hopes of spreading an abundant administrative workload.

After vacating his job as assistant interim development officer, Kevin Stone assumed the duties of the new position Jan. 1.

According to secretary-treasurer Fred Rolof, Stone will help oversee the day-to-day operation of the county. Other duties include organizing the minutes of regular and special county council meetings, dealing with routine correspondence and assisting with special projects.

"The position was created because of my workload and council's desire to see me become more involved in a managerial capacity," says Rolof. "It frees me so I have more time to get involved with things I presently don't have adequate time to deal with."

He points to work with the various department heads; work on the sewer commission; and the issue of proposed Drayton Valley boundary as projects which will require special attention.

"I'll also be freer to react to anything special that comes up," Rolof adds, noting with Stone's help, overtime will be decreased.

The new position does not overlap with the role of assistant secretary-treasurer Larry Majeski, who primarily deals with public works and accounting, confirms Rolof. Majeski is also secretary to the agriculture committee.

Rolof says council considered incorporating the services of an executive assistant last year. Stone's appointment was an internal arrangement and more or less a re-designation, he suggests.

"Council reviewed the workload of the departments and decided to reduce the development department to a one-person department," contends Rolof. "Council was very pleased with Kevin's work in the position of assistant development officer."

Having spent four years as the county's assistant development officer, Stone says the experience will be an asset to his new job.

"I've learned an awful lot working in this department and in particular, Ken (Pinkoski) has passed on a lot of his knowledge to me," states Stone. "When you work in the government in any department, you learn the way the system works and when you work with council even once a month, it is definitely an asset."

Born at Edmonton, Stone was raised at Leduc. The 26-year old spent three years at NAIT taking one year of business administration prior to graduating with a civil engineering technology diploma. He worked for a Grande Prairie consulting engineering firm for six months before joining the county.

As an assistant development officer, his responsibilities ranged from issuing development and building permits to dealing with subdivisions and industrial development.

He contends the challenges will be different in his new job, saying, "I'll be looking forward to those challenges and what they'll be presenting."

"I'm basically very pleased - I want to do as fine a job as I can, and live up to the expectations council has," he says.

"I was also relating to the public by trying to streamline the process for them as much as possible," says Stone, who enjoys curling and does public relations work for the local curling club.

Hiatus hernia afflicts 10 per cent of adults

By Dr. Bob Young

"Hiatus hernia" has become a buzz word at the bridge table and in the coffee rooms. Not surprising, perhaps, as it is thought that about one adult in 10 has this condition. Most people seem to have only a vague idea of what a hiatus (or hiatal) hernia is, even if they are among the 10 per cent. The word "hiatus" is Latin, and means "a gap or aperture" and comes from an earlier word meaning "to yawn or gape." It has been used in English for well over 400 years. Hernia means "a protrusion" or "a rupture," and is also a Latin term.

All hernias consist of protrusions through a hole, and why the slithering part of the stomach through a rent in the diaphragm was graced by being given the name of the hole is beyond me. The term esophageal, or paraesophageal hernia, is a better one.

The displacement of the stomach may be constant or intermittent, partial or complete. The majority of people with hiatus hernias are unaware of them, as they have no symptoms. These individuals do not need treatment.

Most hernias are found during a stomach x-ray, with a few being diagnosed with the gastroscope. The x-ray specialist often puts pressure on the patient's abdomen to push the barium into a suspected hernia.

If symptoms occur, they consist of indigestion and discomfort behind the breastbone, usually after a meal, and especially after a large one. The pain is no better if the patient lies down, and the patient with this condition often learns to walk around after a meal, to "shake it out" of the hernia.

The hernia may allow stomach acid to contact the esophagus, causing more constant discomfort. These patients need treatment the most.

Management includes diet (amount as much as content), control of stomach acid, and raising the head of the bed at night to allow the protrusion to return to its proper place.

Health minister issues a challenge

Social Services and Community Health Minister Neil Webber is smoking mad.

He's challenging Albertans who smoke to drop the habit during National Non-Smoking Week, Jan. 17-23.

Webber used to smoke. He started his love affair with tobacco in high school by chewing the stuff, graduating to cigarettes in Grade 12 when he decided to clean up his teeth.

"I used to enjoy two cigarettes a day. One after breakfast, the other after dinner. The rest of the two packs in between I didn't enjoy at all."

He says he tried to give up smoking the first time when he was driving between Calgary and Edmonton. He bought a new pack in Red Deer.

But 12 years ago he says he pumped up his resolve and put out his last smoke — it was a New Year's resolution.

Webber said he's concerned about the increasing number of young people who smoke. "More than 32 per cent of Albertans over 15 years of age are regular smokers. Over 25 per cent of girls and 20 per cent of boys between 15 and 19 years of age smoke."

It's estimated in 1981 more than 2,900 Albertans died as a result of smoking, he said.

Council improves selection process

Town council plan to take immediate steps to improve their selection of citizens to board positions.

Council have instructed their staff to design an application form that everyone submitting their name for a position will be required to fill out.

Tom McGee told council last week that he would like to see more information on the people coming forth to take a position.

He stated that in most cases council had to make decisions on a name only, and for him that wasn't good enough.

Councillor Claire Carefoot stated that in some instances council have to vote on several names, and more information would be helpful.

Howard Olsen said he felt uncomfortable about the practice and was concerned that in some good people may have been overlooked.

$7000 cheque presented

Board receives funding for arena repairs

A $7,000 cheque was presented to the Evansburg and District Recreation Board recently to assist in covering the cost of repairing the concrete floor in the Evansburg arena. The cheque was a grant from Recreation, Parks and Wildlife Foundation which is funded by the Western Canada Lottery Foundation.

The repairs to the arena floor were a co-operative effort of the recreation board and PARS. Recreation board chairman, Guy Coulombe, noted that the recreation board applied for the grant from the Recreation, Parks and Wildlife Foundation quite a while ago and when the $10,000 project was completed, the invoices were submitted and the grant of $7,500 was released.

The remaining $2,500 expense of the project was supported by a $5,000 donation from the Evansburg Legion. The balance of the legion donation will support other projects at the arena, such as new boards, moving the players' bench and insulating the steel walls and other energy conservation projects planned in 1985, Coulombe noted.

Coulombe said the repairs to the floor have made a big difference. Prior to the repairs, which was a leveling of the concrete floor, there was a difference of up to nine inches from the centre of the arena to the outside edge of the ice surface. The power plant had to work extra hard to freeze that depth of water to maintain a level ice surface.

The arena is now able to maintain a three-quarter-inch ice surface. Coulombe said there should be energy savings in the long run by the power plant not having to work as hard.

The problem had been compounding over the years and Coulombe said in the past three years, it became more prominent with the level difference going from four to five inches to the up to nine-inch difference before the repair.

"There was no way we could leave it like that," said Coulombe and the recreation board and PARS decided to work together to get funds to correct the problem.

The groups got estimates from the three companies who do such work and chose the most reasonable, Coulombe said. The levelling required that holes be drilled through the concrete floor with pressurized grout placed under to level it. Coulombe said there were a lot of holes before the job was done.

The problem behind the floor will be rectified this spring. A four-inch pipe will be placed under the surface and around the arena to the front and a ditch to aid drainage and keep the water levels down. In addition, the village will have to install another storm sewer outlet.

Coulombe said the work was scheduled for last fall but due to the early snow it had to be put off until the spring.

The levelling should be permanent once the water problem is rectified, said Coulombe. In addition, PARS is having soil samples taken to analyze just what the conditions are under the arena and to ensure that there is not a repeat of the concrete shifting.

Long-time school secretary retires

A farewell supper for Margie Hammond was held at the Fairways West Golf Club Dec. 17, with 20 school staff and spouses attending. Hammond was secretary at the Alder Flats school for 19 years and has now accepted employment with Dome Petroleum of Drayton Valley and will be working at the Brazeau Dam site.

She was presented with a gift from the staff as well as receiving other gifts from the students. The grad class presented her with a bouquet.

As well as being secretary she drove the school bus for many years.

We wish Margie all the best in her new job. Lois Robinson will take over Margie's position on a full time basis.

A correction in the legion Remembrance Day winners: they were Carla Becket, Grade 8 (poem); Renee Wilson, Grade 8 (poem); and Kirsten Hembre, Grade 12 (poster). I apologize for any inconvenience this may have caused.

Anne Olsen and her brother from Calgary flew to Houston, Texas, Dec. 24 to spend Christmas with her cousin's daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Wellman.

SOUND COUNTRY

"Super Sports America," a 90-minute syndicated TV series featuring a variety of distinctly American sports, will be hosted by singer-actor Ed Bruce. Bruce, whose own sports background includes automobile racing and rodeo riding, will be joined by commentators Steve Evans and Brock Yates. Evans and Yates bring years of motor-sports experience to the series. Yates is the editor of Car and Driver magazine and the author of the screenplay for "Cannonball Run."

Bruce, Evans and Yates go beyond mere coverage to tell the inside story of each sports event. They also look behind the scenes into the lives of some of America's most daring athletes.

Among the 26 events that will be covered are the World of Outlaws National Challenge sprint car racing from Jacksonville, Fla.; the Road America 100, a Trans-Am road race, from Elkhart Lake, Wis.; the NHRA Gatornationals Championship Drag Racing from Gainesville, Fla.; the Winchester 200 and Winchester 400 stock car races from Winchester, Ind.; the Wrangler Pro Rodeo Round-up from Billings, Mont.; and the Clear Lake Thunderboat Regatta hydroplane competition from Lake Travis. The new series will begin early this year.

Kathy Mattea recently taped TNK's "New Country" show. The program will feature material from her upcoming album, as yet unnamed. Miss Mattea has also made a new video, "You've Got a Gift Piece to Eat." She is also participating in a rattlesnake hunt in Orlando, Fla., this month for TNK's "Country Sportsman."

Tom Jones will kick off his 1985 tour with two weeks at the MGM Grand this month. He plans to take his special brand of country music to Australia and New Zealand for a 30-city tour in February and March. Jones' 18-month-old grandson, Alexander John, recently made his stage debut in a short appearance during his grandfather's engagement at Harrah's.

Tom T. Hall recently shot the pilot of "Storyteller's America" in Memphis for the Nashville Network. The 30-minute show will send its host across the country to discover interesting people and places. The pilot focuses on the legendary K.C. Jones and his trans.

Hall is now in Baja California gathering and writing songs for his next album. He and Jerry Kennedy will begin recording this month.
